BVCC Email Services

The bvres.org web host can provide Bristol Village Computer Club members with their own email address. This address will remain constant no matter what ISP (Internet Service Provider) or email software you use ,or might change to in the future. For basic information about email, review the topic in the BVCC Schoolhouse Tutorials.

All email addresses have the form name@domain where domain is the mail box location. Addresses for bvcc members can be in the form lastname.n@bvres.org or they can have any name you choose, or they can have the same name as the name you used with some other email provider.

One advantage of the bvres.org email address is that if you forget your password, have problems, or need assistance, you will not have to talk to someone in India, or wherever. Contact the BVCC Webmaster or a Computer Club officer to establish a bvres.org mail box.

If you want to maintain more than one mail box, the BVCC Webmaster can set your bvres.org mail box to automatically forward mail to a different address.

Keep in mind that any program for reading email, such as Thunderbird, Outlook, Gmail, etc. can be set to use a bvres.org mail box.

Mail in a bvres.org mail box can be read from any computer connected to the Internet. The BVCC Schoolhouse Tutorias Email section has instructions on how to receive mail from a bvres.org address book from any Internet connected computer.
